Our Principal's Message

AS you leave school for the broader fields of life you will receive many parting words of advice. There are many recipes for success and also various definitions of what constitutes success.

Fundamentally, living is a human problem involving, on all sides, our relations with other human beings. Many of our personal and social problems would disappear if each of us would accord to every other man, woman, or child the respect to which he or she is entitled. This is true whether the other person is your employer or your employee, your wife or your husband, your teacher or your pupil, the clerk in the store or your congressman. We should strive to conduct ourselves toward other human beings as we would like to have them act toward us.

I wish to express my deep appreciation to the Class of 1949 for all they have contributed to Schoharie Central School. I desire to extend to each of you individually my best wishes for the future. May it be said of you, on some distant day, that the World was better because of your life; that you have contributed to the welfare and happiness of your community, to the achievements of your nation and to the greater glory of God.

Wallace E. Lamb

Dedication

THIS page can tell only a small part of our appreciation for the hard and untiring work which Mrs. Frisbie and Mrs. Rickard have given our class, for we know that at times it must have been quite difficult.

It is with great pleasure that we, the Senior Class of 1949, dedicate our yearbook, the "Schoharian," to the two people who have helped us through our high school years in S.C.S.

MRS. Daniel Frisbie has been our class advisor for the last three years. Mrs. Leslie Rickard, who is no longer teaching, is remembered for starting us off on the right foot in our Junior high school and Freshman years.

We hope that in some small way this dedication will show them our gratitude for their splendid guidance and supervision.

Yearbook Staff

Marilyn, Prophecy & Will; Jimmy, Editor; Wilbur, High School Section; Dick, Art; Herman, Advertising; Bill, Assistant Editor; Lenny, Extra Cirricular; Warren, Assistant Editor; Mrs. Frisbie, Advisor; Bernice, Grade School Section; Lorraine, Advertising, Typist; Katie, Class History.

Editorial

THIS yearbook, which is the fourth one that has been published in S.C.S. is the result of many hours of enjoyable labor. We were blessed with various new ideas; some of which have been carried out and others, of course, which haven't.

Hal Von Linden, our photographer, is to be congratulated for the splendid work he has done for us in our book. With his help we have increased the number of pictures and have tried to make them more appealing to the readers with a large number of informal shots.

Another new idea was doing the add section in free hand drawings. Warren, Dick, Leonard and Mrs. Frisbie all pitched in and succeeded in doing a wonderful job of it.

Marilyn Canton racked her ingenious little brain many days and nights to provide us with the class poem, will and prophecy. Katherine S., Bernice A., and Thelma Pierce, the three originals, reminisced together the happenings in our younger days and came out with an eventful class history.

Lorraine, Thelma, and Betty C. were kept as busy as bees filling the role of head typists. Betty Thompson, Lauretta, and Wilbur were always ready and willing with a helping hand.

This editorial would not be complete if no mention were made of my right-hand man, Bill (Bunny) West. Willy was always on the go doing something. He would either be running errands, pasting pictures, cutting up headings, singing bass, or keeping us in good humor with his comedy acts.

We sincerely hope you will enjoy this yearbook and that it will help you remember the class of '49 among the memories of your happy days at S.C.S.

History

WE, the three originals, speaking for the entire class, declare that the past 12 years have been the best years of our lives. It all started out some what like a wonderful story book. If we remember correctly, it was warm and sunny. We had a swell time getting acquainted with each other. Out of some forty children, Thelma Pierce, Bernice Allen and Katherine Scutt are the only three remaining from that class. Once in a while there would be quarrels and someone's hair would get pulled or he would be kicked good and hard. They say it's all a part of growing up.

In the first grade we added Cathy Roe, Herman Stolzenburg and Jimmy Van Derwerken to our rapidly growing group. That year we put on "Little Black Sambo." Then we came to the Second Grade where we met Lauretta Barton. Bob Blenis, Kathleen Van Aller and Bernice Tallmadge came in the fourth grade.

The years following were uneventful. Oh, yes, we had the usual amount of hair pulling and school-kid crushes. We had to learn our ABC's and the three R's, but we are still alive to prove that it didn't hurt us. The most important thing that happened was that we were blessed with Eddie Barbin and Marilyn Canton.

The fifth grade was divided into two sections. One was with Miss Ives and the other Miss Norris. Wanda Fancher joined us that year. Miss Norris gave Thelma the nick-name "Pudgy" and it stuck. That year most of us were in a Christmas Pageant and had to take the parts of candles, Christmas trees, and candy canes. It was very monotonous standing there, and we must admit that we were scared; but when the time came to sing, we managed to let out a small squeak.

We managed to struggle into the sixth grade room where we met Lorraine Thomas, Marshall Gaige and Warren Tillapaugh. It was this year that we went on a picnic at LaSalle Park and invited Mrs. Frisbie, then Miss Newkirk, to go along. We were having a gay old time until Miss Nunweiler lost the heel from her shoe, but the boys came to the rescue and soon had it nailed on again. We knitted afghan squares for the Red Cross, and even the boys knitted. We were surprised to find out that some boys could knit better than the girls.

Seventh grade rolled around and we were in our glory. Betty Conover and Billy West were added. This was the first year that we passed between classes. We were still passing in our Freshman year when Mabel Woodbeck, Marilyn Cook, Richard Krall and Billy Best found us. This year we gave a play called "Swept Clean Off Her Feet" which starred Thelma, Warren, and Bill West. We also gave two short plays for science. These were made up by the class and presented for an assembly. The girls and boys in burlap bags were quite a contrast to the formal tea party of the next play. That was also the first year we had roller skating parties. Our Commencement dance was a success. The gym was appropriately decorated with the silhouettes of the Seniors.

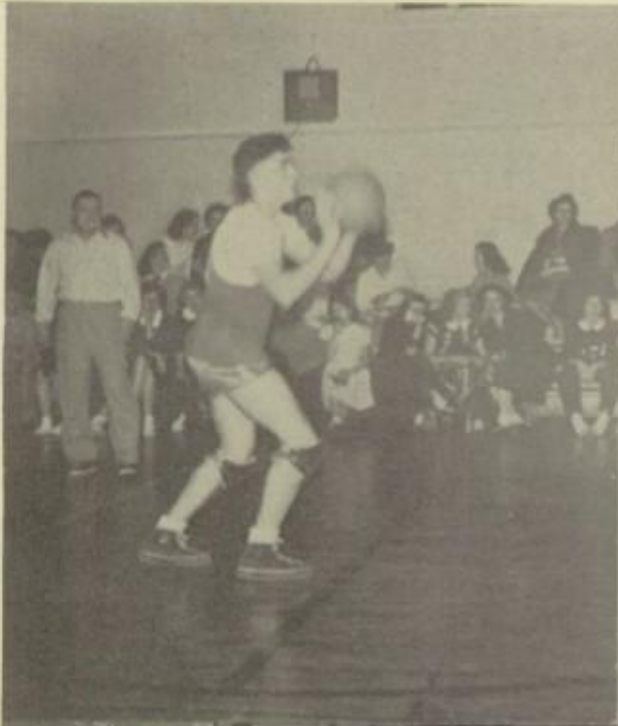

In our Sophomore year Mrs. Rickard left us and Miss Newkirk took over. We put on a play for the Play Festival with Berne Knox and Gilboa. The play "From Trenton to Camden" was presented without the aid of scenery.

In our tenth year Bobby was our President and Warren, Vice-President. The Secretarial position was held by Lorraine, and Marilyn did the corresponding. Jimmy had a difficult time to keep the books balanced.

Our Sophomore Soiree was the dance of the year. It was a nightclub scene with waiters and cigarette girls. This was one dance that was a real money making success. That year Larry Prichard joined us. Our Junior year wasn't too eventful, with the exception of the arrival of Lenny Butler, Wilbur Lockrow and Betty Thompson. I think the hardest thing we had to do was to keep Lenny from falling asleep during classes. We had a Junior Prom with the crowning of Jimmy and Marilyn as Prince and Princess. The attendants were Betty Conover, Thelma Pierce, Warren Tillapaugh, and Herman Stolzenburg. The crown bearers were Joyce Teller and David Canton. We decorated the gym with green and white crepe paper and had a blue ceiling trimmed with silver stars.

Here we are in our final year with only one addition, Bill Reisinger, to our merry group. This is the busiest year so far. We elected Marilyn Canton, President; Warren, Vice-President; Betty Thompson, Secretary; and Lorraine as Corresponding Secretary. The hardest job of Treasurer went to Bill West. The yearbook is now "The" problem. Jimmy is editor and he has his hands full trying to assemble the material. We must confess that Mr. Von Linden has his hands full with Warren.

Even though the work is hard we are spurred on by the enthusiasm of our trip to Washington, with a stop-over at New York during Easter Vacation.

Prophecy

MY husband decided to take his vacation during the winter this year, so we made plans to spend it in Florida. We contacted Katherine Radford, you remember her as Kay Scutt, and her husband and arranged to travel with them in their trailer.

It was a beautiful brisk day just after the first of the year when we started. We made very good time, but during the fifth day on the road something went wrong with the car. We stopped at a near-by gas station to have repairs made and who did we see but Larry Pritchard. All he had were parts to old "Hupmobiles" on which he is quite an authority. However he was able to fix us up and start us on our way with good wishes. While talking to Larry, we found out that Bill Reisinger had another station down the road so we stopped for a brief chat. Bill informed us that he and Larry weren't speaking because of an argument over autos.

That evening we stopped at the B & B Restaurant for supper. The food was excellent; and while we were finishing, the proprietresses came over and spoke to us. They were our old inseparable school chums, Bernice Allen and Bernice Tallmadge. They had recognized us as we came in and had waited to talk to us. They told us that they had been running the restaurant for five years. After about an hour of old reminiscences we started on again.

Not too long after, we pulled into Palm Springs. We had chosen the "Holiday Inn" as the place where we would stay. It was owned by James Elon Van Derwerken I and managed by Marilyn Canton. Our reservations were made some time in advance so that the desk clerk, Eddie Barbin, had us shown immediately to our rooms. They were spacious and light and looked down on a courtyard and the private swimming pool.

The next morning we were served breakfast in the dining room by a pleasant waitress whom we recognized at once as being Mabel Woodbeck. She said that she had been working there off and on for some time-it all seemed to depend on how many verbal combats she had with the head cook, Betty Conover.

We had planned a sight-seeing trip for that morning; but as we stepped outside, we stepped into the middle of a lively argument between two shop owners. We recognized them immediately and shook our heads in dismay. Lorraine could still give a good tongue-lashing when she wanted to. This time it was, as it often used to be, Warren with whom she was quarreling. It seemed that the display in Warren's haberdashery was distracting attention from Lorraine's dress shop window. Neither would give in so the argument was still in progress as we left.

We were then conducted to our sight-seeing car and proceeded merrily on our way. We soon had passed through the bustling city and its wonderful sights to the outlying districts. Citrus farms were in the majority there. We had passed many of them when I noticed a sign which said "Gauge's Citrus Farm." On chance we stopped and inquired about the owner. To our pleasant surprise we found it to be our old friend Marshall Gauge. He told us that he had given up farming in the North because of the climate-too cold. We stayed there for lunch and by a chance remark, found that Lauretta Barton had a pedigreed dog ranch about five miles from Marshall's farm. After leaving Marshall's, we went to the Barton ranch only to find that we had missed Lauretta by a few minutes. We promised to return before we left for home.

It was late afternoon before we returned to the hotel. We decided on a swim before supper. When we got to the pool, we heard the guests applauding. There, up on the high board, Betty Thompson was about to do diving stunts. At the present time she was employed as private secretary to the owner, James Elon Van Derwerken I. We spent a pleasant hour getting acquainted with some of the guests.

About 7:00 we were dressed for dinner and proceeded to the dining room. The head waiter, Herman Stolzenburg, showed us to our tables and served us personally. In that way we were able to talk to him for a while. He recommended that we come down to the "Blue Room" later in the evening to hear the band, which was excellent. We had seen the posters showing the "West Quintet and Vocalist." We said that we would and then began to thoroughly enjoy our dinner. Betty had certainly done us up royally.

Later that evening, the four of us went to the "Blue Room." Bill West's orchestra was now the number 1 band of the nation, and they were doing the "Hit Parade" from here on Saturday nights with their vocalist Thelma Pierce. Thelma and Bill had worked up some wonderful novelty numbers that you had to see to appreciate. Thelma was in her glory when doing one. I noticed that Lenny Butler was playing trumpet for Bill and helping with arrangements.

My husband and I left early and went to our rooms. When we arrived at them, I could not find my key. We tried to open the door, but to no avail. When I noticed a young woman coming down the hall, she asked us what the trouble was and what our names were. She checked our names in a small book and then opened the door with a master key. We stepped inside the door and turned on the light. It was Wanda Fancher. She informed us that she was the house detective here. She said that she was taking the night shift this week and that Catherine Roe was working during the day. We thanked her for her services and went to bed.

On the third day of our visit we were in the lobby of the hotel when a certain gentleman checked in. I hadn't seen him in person for years, but his pictures were often in the papers. It was Bill Best, pitcher for the "Yankees." He was taking the winter vacation here.

Late that afternoon while we were lying around the pool, we heard a buzzing noise and looked up. There was a helicopter about to land on the other side of the pool. When it landed, two men stepped out. There were the multi-millionaires, Bob Blenis and Wilbur Lockrow. It was just a short time ago that they had been regarded as the "mad scientists," but their experiments paid off. In case you don't remember, they made their fortunes by answering the question, "Why the Worm Turns." On inquiry, we learned that they were staying here while posing for portraits which were to be done by the famous Monsieur Richard Krall.

We stayed at the "Holiday Inn" for another week. Our time was spent pleasantly by making tours and visiting with all the old friends we had found. We met two more during that week. It was only by luck that we bumped into Kathleen Van Aller and her husband. They had just stopped over night and we happened to spot them in the Blue Room. Earlier that same evening we had discovered a cat in our room; and after finding to whom it belonged, we returned it. That was how we found Marilyn Cook. She and her cats had a room at the end of the hall on our floor.

When the time came for us to finally leave, the manager, Marilyn Canton, and the owner, James Van Derwerken, came up to our rooms to say good-bye in the name of the hotel. It was the first chance we had had to speak to them so they stayed for the better part of an hour. It seems that Marilyn had been part time manager in a store when James had wired her to come and help him to manage his new resort. Jim had three other resorts in Florida, all doing well. Then with more fond farewells, we left the "Holiday Inn" and started for home full of fond memories and good friendships.

Class Poem

All Senior classes share the same fate
Of teachers' dislike and the coming June date.
We know we must leave and hate to do it,
But memories help to brace us up to it.
It was always our class that took off on a spree-
The Money-mad Kids of '49 were we.
This year much credit goes to Bill, Herman and Wilbur
Whose pop-selling ability did cross us with silver
And while at a game we can stop and see
The ones that missing next year will be.
Our basketball team will sure show a dent
When our players, Bob and Jimmy, have "went."
Wanda, Marilyn and Betty will really be hurt
When leaving the squad on which they have worked.
A word must be said for Thelma's song,
For without it, how would our game get along?
The halls will echo with Warren's shrill whistle
And Lenny's trumpet giving song as a missile.
Perhaps you'll remember more than their noise
Our more silent Seniors with quietness and poise.
The various two somes will no more be seen
Wandering in the halls or on the school green.
The quartette must now take a final bow
For its various performances have wowed you and how!
Many dances we've had; not all were successful,
The results of those few were very distressful.
Of course you remember our Junior Dance renowned
When Jim and Marilyn were Prince and Princess crowned.
For the rest of our classmates, I'll put it in verse-
So read on, my friends, it couldn't get worse.
While looking for duplicates, we all agree
Our redhead Lauretta seems the last one to be;
For pint-size in stature but large in ambition
Lorraine and Mabel will hold up tradition.
And then there is Catherine so full of laughter
With Bett C's similar trait following close after.
It's always our Larry who gets in a jam,
And Marshall who's ready with an ever-helping hand.
Date Scutt is reserved but the world I am telling
She really is tops when it come to Ad-selling.
I know you appreciate our talented boy, Dick,
Who drew many Ads that triumphantly click.
Kathleen you'd remember for her raven-hued hair,
When it comes to looks, she's really "all there!"
Our two little Bernices will really feel a loss
When graduation is over and their paths no more cross.
Our Marilyn Cook, it is easy to see,
Will some day a very good homemaker be.
Billy Reisinger is new and we're hoping he stays
And remembers his classmates the rest of his days.
Last, but not least, is our friend, Billy Best,
Who took Greeley's advice and really "went West"
Mimi Canton's had fun reminiscing this way
Bout the classmates she meets in the hall every day;
To each one she extends a hearty "So Long"--
Four years of Memories - how fast they have gone.
She sincerely hopes, as the years slip by,
She'll meet up again with each gal and guy.

Class Will

WE, the Class of '49, being of semiequal physical and mental ability, declare this our last will and testament.

Bernice Allen - leaves her petite figure to Bambi.

Eddie Barbin - leaves for a life in Burtonville.

Lauretta Barton - leaves her stub nose to Jane Santer.

Billy Best - leaves Joan in school for another year.

Bobby Blenis - leaves his wave (willed to him by Jim Hunter) to Harvey Stoddard.

Lenny Butler - leaves his shoes to anyone who can get the size.

Betty Conover - leaves Wanda.

Marilyn Canton - leaves her aggressiveness and poise to Jean Warner.

Marilyn Cook - leaves her shyness to June Klahr.

Marshall Gaige - leaves his place in Ag. class to John Fero.

Wanda Fancher - leaves her bangs to anyone without them.

Dick Krall - leaves his art ability to some future S. C. S. artist.

Thelma Pierce - leaves her "bouncing personality" to Marlene Kelly.

Larry Prichard - leaves with a sigh.

Catherine Roe - leaves her flighty ways to Beverly Thompson.

Bill Riesinger - leaves the Senior girls.

Katherine Scutt - leaves to make a home in a trailer.

Herman Stolzenburg - leaves with Thelma.

Bernice Tallmadge - leaves her brown eyes to Floyd Guernsey.

Lorraine Thomas - leaves her "little black book" to the Sophomore girls.

Betty Thompson - leaves her lady-like way and quiet manners to Shirley Hunter.

Warren Tillapaugh - leaves his way with the women to Sammy Melisi.

Jimmy Van Derwerken - leaves his basketball ability to next year's hopefuls.

Mabel Woodbeck - leaves her smile to Shirley Zeh.

Kathleen Van Aller - leaves her black hair to Barbara Zanger.

Wilbur Lockrow - leaves his antics in English class to Herbie Luhr.

Bill West - leaves his comedian characteristics to Charlie Wright.

To the Faculty - we leave ---that isn't much but we do leave!
